Core Capital Partners

Core Capital Partners is a 70 million private equity fund that provides capital to both early-stage technology ventures and small to mid-sized growth companies where technology is a driver of change in the business or sector. The common thread is that these companies are developing or incorporating disruptive technologies into their businesses. Core Capital Partners focuses principally on the kinds of "core" or fundamental technologies that enable or enhance information, data and communication. They are headquartered in Washington, D.C. and most of their investments are made on the East Coast.
